

SHADES OF PAST were invoked yesterday as town of Red Deer held its colorful annual stampede. Two thousand gathered to watch such intriguing sights as pretty Beatrice Fry perched on a horse and all dressed up in buckskin suit her grandmother made. Attracting as much attention as some of acts was 70-year old Mrs. Herbert Spencer with her silk parasol, and 100-year-old Paisley shawl. (See story on Page 3.)

Agriculture

Drought-stricken farmers in southwestern Saskatchewan will be allowed to disregard regulations this summer. Agriculture Minister Gardiner will let them grow up their land without leaving strips as evidence grain was sown. Gardiner says there is no need to leave strips where there has been a total loss.

... Total loss.

Cold War

What is Russia really up to? That's the $15,000,000,000 question the U.S. senate group on military appropriations fervently wishes it had the answer to. If senators guess Russia wants peace they can cut the huge sum earmarked for defence. If they think otherwise the taxpayers will have a bigger lead to carry. Congress must make up its mind soon.

Canada's Pravda, Communist-supporting Canadian Tribune, seems pretty dumb about elections and voting. The Tribune urges faithful party-line followers to write on ballots in consequence where there are no Labour Progressive candidates: "Keep Canada out of war." That will spoil the ballot under the Election Act.

Three Russians fighting for privilege of arresting a Polish national in Berlin were arrested themselves. Poles were taken into custody by French police when he complained a Russian civilian was trying to kidnap him. Russian soldier and major were taken into custody by the French police when they demanded custody of the Pole, and French police climaxed the case by arresting the Russian civilian who started the whole thing.

Spies Trials
Judith Coplan is literally screaming her innocence from the witness stand of her Washington trial for handing state documents over to Russia. She has admitted the case is fishy and smells to high heaven. She claims everybody has framed her, including the FBI and her former Russian lover, Valentin A. Gubichev.

Alger Hiss, former state department official, will face the real ordeal of his trial for perjury next week. That trial will be under cross-examination from U.S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy. He must try and make his story stick that former Time Editor Whitaker Chambers was only a casual acquaintance and not a fellow member of the Communist party in the U.S.

McCullagh Raps Liberals For Growing Bureaucracy

TORONTO, June 25.—(CP)—George McCullagh, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail and the Toronto Telegram, charged last night in a broadcast address that the Liberal party has replaced "parliamentary control with bureaucratic control" and departed from Liberal principles to a "shocking degree."

At the same time, he urged Canadian voters to support Progressive Conservative candidates in Monday's federal election. "I am not a power-drunk minister," he said, "but I am a power-drunk minister."

"I preferred to keep the independence of my newspaper," he said. "When the CBC's gift to the Star became public, of course, the corporation was forced to stop it."

He also said that the Toronto Star Weekly is not required to pay the eight-cent sales tax which is charged on newspapers in Canada.

He added: "This special privilege, which cannot be defended and will be dropped the day George Drew takes office, is worth $108,000 a year to the Toronto Star, and its going on every day right now."

He said that on four different occasions in the last three years bookmakers for the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association "have agreed to let me have the right of the government to protest this unfair discrimination."

McCullagh touched on, too, Mr. Drew's charges that the government had sold the $22,000,000 Canadian aircraft plant at Montreal to the Electric Boat Company of the United States.

He said he would like Trade Minister Howe, the minister responsible to say why the plant had been sold for $4,000,000.

Voters Get Their Day On Monday

In the 345-seat chamber at dissolution Apr. 30 was: Liberals, 125; Progressive Conservatives, 62; CCF, 32; Social Credit, 12 others, six vacant, one. There will be 282 seats in the new House. The increase of 17 seats includes seven for the new provinces of Newfoundland and 10 for new constituencies created since 1945.

The 102-member Senate—six have been added for Newfoundland—is not elective. Its members are appointed by the government of the day and hold office for life.

Liberals lead field. Liberals, in office since 1935, have the largest number of candidates—260—in the field.

Progressive Conservatives, out to regain the federal power they lost in 1935, are running them a close second, with 249. CCF has nominated 180. Union of Electors 55, the Social Credit group 37 and the Labor-Progressive Party 13.

Miscellaneous political groups account for the remaining 85 candidates.

While the bulk of eligible voters in the country's 12,300,000 population won't vote until Monday, a thin vanguard already have begun to mark their ballots. They are: Royal Canadian Mounted Police constables and certain Canada Post employees.

Police constables and certain Canada Post employees will vote in advance polls this week.

REVERSE POSSIBLE
The armed service vote was held from Monday to Sunday. Eligible were some 40,000 permanent force soldiers, sailors and airmen, 11,000 reservists in hospital and an undetermined number of reservists at summer training camps.

Their votes, which won't be known until July 2, just possibly could reverse the result of civilian voting in closely-fought areas. That.

The Iron is not, believing that with rapidly increasing growth of the district the time is ripe for administration of its own affairs.

Argument against incorporation is the possibility of higher school taxes and expense of installing separate sewage, water and telephone systems.

FIST-FIGHT SPARKED
Following heated discussion on the right to vote of taxpayers who were not association members, a recess was declared to allow non-members to register in the association and thus become eligible for the final vote. It was during the recess that a brief fist fight occurred in the hall, subsiding as the meeting was called to order for the vote.

Final vote followed a motion by Mr. Lambert that decision be held in abeyance pending further investigation as to what incorporation would mean to the taxpayer. Mr. Lambert argued that a group of less than 100 people is not qualified to speak for a population of over 2000.

OTHER BUSINESS BACK-SEAT
Impatient opposition argued that last night's meeting was badly advertised and the question had already been tabled 11 times.

Business that faded into insignificance before the stormy village happened in three constituencies in the 1945 election, when 20,000 servicemen, both at home and abroad, voted in a special service ballot.

Civilian advance polls, which opened Thursday and close today, include commercial travellers, fishermen and transport workers who will be away from home voting day. Their votes will be counted election night.

question included arrangements for a ball diamond at Kenora school and reports from paving and sidewalk committees. Action of the telephone committee was approved. Findings revealed that West Jasper Place could install separate service with out connection to the city, or have through service with a toll charge on each call.

Telephone committee recommended working closely with the city, believing that adequate telephone service would be provided as soon as possible in the area.

The affairs, one of Canada's commercial fields, is anomalous. It comes into freshwater streams to spawn but spends most of its life in the sea.

'X' Rule to Remember When Marking Ballots

By Pat McVean

X IS OK.
That's the rule to remember when you mark your ballot in the federal election Monday.

Your ballot will be considered spoiled if you indicate your choice with any mark other than an "X" or a cross.

The number 1 or any other figure marked on the ballot will spoil it. So will the use of a colored pencil or ink. Use only the provided in the voting booth.

If you poll your ballot while in the voting booth, returns it to the deputy returning officer. He will destroy it and give you another one.

Vote early in the day.
Returning officers in both city and county have issued an appeal for housewives and others with leisure time to vote during Monday morning or during early afternoon.

This will prevent crowding and delays when employed persons, unable to vote earlier in the day, call at the polling stations.

Business voting time is expected to be from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Polls open at 8 p.m. and close at 10 p.m. in all ridings.

Employers are obliged to see that their employees have three free hours in which to vote. Refusal to grant employees time in which to vote is punishable by court action and fine on conviction.

Yesterday, candidates took to the airwaves for the last time.

Election regulations provide that all radio speech-making in behalf of election nominees must cease 48 hours before voting polls open.

On the two commercial radio stations in Edmonton, political speeches stopped at midnight yesterday, but on the last day of the campaign, one hour and five minutes of radio time was purchased to bring candidates' merits to public attention.

Class A national rates—most expensive of any radio advertising—will be in effect for the time.

Altogether 25 political speeches, from one to 15 minutes in length, will be made in behalf of local candidates yesterday.

First indication of local election trends will likely be made known at 7 p.m. Monday, as hour after hour polls close.

Deputy returning officers will make the first count of ballots immediately after polls close; later the final count will be made.

KIDNEY ACIDS
Rob your Rest...

Do not let your kidneys get out of control. They turn your blood into "urine" when it is time to sleep. Healthy kidneys filter out the waste from the blood. If they fail to do this, the waste builds up in the blood and makes you feel tired and nervous. If you don't rest well, you can't do your best. Do not let your kidneys get out of control. # Room-Day Music for All

The non-day concerts carried by loudspeaker from the Edmonton public library to the meagre library grounds have proved exceedingly popular since their inauguration on June 1.

That fine concert music, heard from 12 to 1:30 each weekday, should be piped to every park and every school playground in the city.

It is a pleasant and refreshing sight each noon to see the number of people on the grass or on deck-chairs, some of them eating their lunches, and enjoying the relaxation afforded by this intelligent far-sighted step on the part of an efficient library management.

Veterans Most Law-Abiding

It was an infamous plot up by a young man in the Edmonton police cut the other day when he tried to excuse his violent behavior by saying that his experience had taught him to think violently.

It was an infamous plea because veterans, according to police and penal statistics, are the most law-abiding class of men in any community.

"In the army," he said, "I was taught to fight and I still live that way. I take no chances and give no chances."

This would of course, be a remarkable rare among veterans, is all the more strange in that most men who fought in the armed forces carried away from their

But it is pitiful, too, in way, because where this lovely music reaches fifties, it should be reaching thousands.

If these concerts were carried by wire to loudspeakers in every city park and in every school playground, they would reach thousands because housewives by the hundreds would make it a breathing space in the day's duties to listen.

Workmen could eat their lunches to the strains of the world's finest music.

And children would stop in their playing to congregate wherever the notes were heard.

This is a magnificent service being given to a minimum rather than a maximum of Edmonton people.

rigorous experiences an almost passionate love of peace.

They saw at first hand, and in the pain and horrors of battle, the terrible results of violence and disorder.

And so they brought away from this agonizing experience respect for order.

They saw the conflict which arises out of disregard for international law. So they carried away from it a deep devotion to the beneficence of law.

The great majority of men came out of the armed forces enriched in judgment, and the decency and order of life.

No man speaks for veterans when he pleads that armed service unfitted him for community life.

Mechanics of Casting a Vote

The most unhappy thing that can happen to a voter on election day is to trip blithely to the polls and then mark the ballot in an improper way.

In the national election of 1945, there were 439 spoiled ballots in Edmonton East and 528 in Edmonton West.

That means that 737 people lost their votes because they did not take the pains to observe the rules.

It has been pointed out that most of these 737 persons spoiled their ballots by marking them with a numeral instead of a cross.

This mistake, of course, was due to a habit acquired in provincial elections where, in the cities, the ballot box, with its proper representation is employed and voters are required to number the candidates in order of choice.

It should be emphatically pointed out and remembered that in a federal election any marking on the ballot other than a cross will cause the ballot to be rejected in the count.

A ballot is spoiled, too, unless the pencil supplied in the voting booth is used.

One must not use your own pencil.

Ballots marked in ink or colored pencil or with any symbol other than a cross are spoiled.

This rule, of course, is to prevent the identification of any ballot and thus render the vote of every individual completely secret.

If any person inadvertently spoils his ballot in the voting booth and realizes he has spoiled the ballot, he should return the spoiled ballot to the deputy returning officer who will supply him with a fresh one.

The mechanics of casting a vote cannot be overemphasized.

Refusing the Calls of God

Christ's parable of the great supper as recounted in the 14th chapter of St. Luke, beginning at the 16th verse, tells of a certain man who planned a feast and sent his servant to invite his friends and acquaintances.

But they all made excuses. One had just bought a farm. One had just married. Another had just bought oxen and had to train them.

So the man sent his servant to call in all the blind and the poor and the maimed from the highways and all the beggars from the hedges until his table was full.

And he said that none of those who had been invited and declined to come should ever taste of his supper.

There are two important lessons in this parable.

The first is that mere respectability without godliness is no assurance of eternal life. A man may be commendable in conduct, amiable, respected and useful, and yet, if he refuses the calls of God, he is barred from God's heaven.

Obedience to God's call is the first requisite of the Christian life.

The second lesson is that those who from their place in Christian society and their knowledge of the world around them expect to be pillars and ornaments of the Church, are perpetually falling short of doing God's will.

They are, and they fail to answer. But, surprisingly, those from whom we expect nothing frequently perform much.

The respectable men declined to come to the supper. The tramps and the idlers came readily.

Those who do not call forever.

Those who do not answer may not have a second chance.

ODDS AND ENDS

Right to Vote Is Most Precious Asset of Age

The prevailing bromide just before every election is this: "Vote as you like, but vote."

The inference that it doesn't matter how you vote is almost as old as the hills.

It does matter a great deal how you vote. A wise vote is infinitely better than a foolish vote.

But it is an absurd mistake to say that the right to vote is better than a vote at all.

I doubt very much if it is. In all honesty I should think that a man who hasn't reached the age to make up his mind what he wants in a political campaign is far better to stay away from the polls altogether than to huddle into a booth with a ballot and mark it on the enlightened principle of self-interest.

It shouldn't be hard for anybody with ordinary intelligence to come to a decision in the election on Monday.

The issues have been brought out very clearly. The three chief parties represent three distinct and well-defined approaches, not only to politics but to life.

The man or woman who cannot make up his or her mind which is a bit or her approach simply lacks brains.

Light Vote

If there is a light vote in Canada on Monday, then it will be an emphatic reflection upon the understanding and intelligence of the Canadian people.

For all the business about voting, no matter who you vote for, is only to be the misleading talk.

To urge people to vote without urging them to study the issues is to urge people to vote without urging them to vote intelligently.

To urge people to wallow into a booth with a ballot and mark it on the enlightened principle of self-interest is to urge people to vote without urging them to vote intelligently.

It is the most precious asset of age.

The free, secret vote is the greatest and highest privilege of free men.

It is the answer to everything. It is the symbol of the final sovereignty of the people.

It is the most precious asset of age.

The free, secret vote is the greatest and highest privilege of free men.

It is the answer to everything. It is the symbol of the final sovereignty of the people.

It is the most precious asset of age.

It is the answer to everything. It is the symbol of the final sovereignty of the people.

Explains Bonding

Editor, Bulletin.—The two American tourists who complained in Calgary that they were asked to pay a deposit on their car at the border have been questioned by Alaska, ran full of precautions taken to prevent entry into Canada of criminals, undesirable persons and persons likely to become a public charge.

The reason for the request, in their grievance, and hoping that the Alberta Travel Bureau might not assist them, but also eliminate any further embarrassment to other visitors from the United States.

I interviewed Mr. J. S. Rosewater, customs collector at Coquit and Mr. H. H. Hill, chief immigration officer at Coquit, by letter.

Mr. Rosewater explained that these visitors could have obtained a bond from the United States, but the bonding companies in Coquit for $500. The bond was required in this case, he said, because their automobile was a model prior to 1936.

In the past, several old cars had broken down along the Alaska Highway, and when the Alaska Highway was opened, the officials, assuming that they might have been sold and the car might be sold to a foreigner, decided to conduct expensive searches. The bonds, which are required under a regulation A19, dated May 27, 1940, are released or returned when the car is taken out of Canada, either at the border or upon entering Alaska.

Mr. Hill informed that visitors in this instance reported they had $250.00 cash. The limitation, therefore, was not a concern that they might be involved in an accident, or if becoming lost they became the subject of a search might be prolonged and expensive.

Editor, Bulletin.—I have a lot about vitamins these days but help me with some of the deficiencies, but can anyone tell me why my car has had to stop on the top of my head when I have all the hair I need?

I have heard about Amino Acid, without which, the scientist says, the hair will fall out. How do you acquire this acid in your diet? Is it in the diet?

I am hoping that some information person might be able to enlighten me in this problem that has been worried. I have tried many number of remedies and haven't found one that has brought about a cure.

That one was to take all the eggs from the hen, but after that number I couldn't take much of a meal. I am looking for a better remedy.

Explains Bonding

Editor, Bulletin.—The two American tourists who complained in Calgary that they were asked to pay a deposit on their car at the border have been questioned by Alaska, ran full of precautions taken to prevent entry into Canada of criminals, undesirable persons and persons likely to become a public charge.

The reason for the request, in their grievance, and hoping that the Alberta Travel Bureau might not assist them, but also eliminate any further embarrassment to other visitors from the United States.

I interviewed Mr. J. S. Rosewater, customs collector at Coquit and Mr. H. H. Hill, chief immigration officer at Coquit, by letter.

Mr. Rosewater explained that these visitors could have obtained a bond from the United States, but the bonding companies in Coquit for $500. The bond was required in this case, he said, because their automobile was a model prior to 1936.

In the past, several old cars had broken down along the Alaska Highway, and when the Alaska Highway was opened, the officials, assuming that they might have been sold and the car might be sold to a foreigner, decided to conduct expensive searches. The bonds, which are required under a regulation A19, dated May 27, 1940, are released or returned when the car is taken out of Canada, either at the border or upon entering Alaska.

Mr. Hill informed that visitors in this instance reported they had $250.00 cash. The limitation, therefore, was not a concern that they might be involved in an accident, or if becoming lost they became the subject of a search might be prolonged and expensive.

Without reporting the details of this case, the writer published cover about one-third of the surface of Scotland. A program of restoration is being drawn up for testing it in gas turbines. "Tales of the North" is a collection of extracts from it valuable as a historical and commercially of great importance.

An important new use for peat that has been found is to burn it in gas turbines for generating electricity. It would replace oil which is now used as fuel.

This new possibility was discussed at a meeting of the International Conference. The scheme is being initiated for developing the use of vast deposits of peat which cover about one-third of the surface of Scotland. A program of restoration is being drawn up for testing it in gas turbines. "Tales of the North" is a collection of extracts from it valuable as a historical and commercially of great importance.

Profanity

Editor, Bulletin.—For years we have been subscribers of The Bulletin.

Why not keep profanity out of the paper? On page 11 of the June 20 edition you are quoting various people as using profane language. It is not only in vain to use God's name in vain, it is also to use it in vain.

It is difficult to bring children up the right way—

NOTHING TO CROW ABOUT is this battered Negro, protected by circle of police, resting after falling victim to Jim Crow riot in St. Louis. At least 11 were injured in rioting that followed opening of city swimming pools and playgrounds to Negroes as well as whites. It took 200 policemen to stop bar-and-crowbar-swinging rioters.

Even Irving Berlin Excited Over New Musical Show

By Robert Muesel

NEW YORK, June 25.—(UP)—Irving Berlin has written a musical score that even he is excited about and as a result Broadway is beginning to pester ticket agencies for seats to a show which will not open for at least two months.

The little music master even went as far today as to say he thought his tunes for "Miss Liberty" were "as good" as the fabulous hits which were sung around the world from "Annie Get Your Gun."

As he spoke two dozen beautiful show girls were twittering on the stage of the Imperial Theatre waiting for choreographer Jerome Robbins to begin creating "Miss Liberty" dances. There was on 4th street the high excitement that always attends the launching of a new show—and especially one which has music by Berlin and a libretto by as renowned a playwright as Robert Sherwood.

COMPLICATED BUSINESS
A musical comedy is at once the most complicated and rewarding of modern entertainments. "Miss Liberty" will cost its backers at least $200,000 and perhaps beyond $250,000 before the curtain goes up for the first time. An investment of this size needs a capacity run of seven or eight months before any profits can be paid.

But Berlin and his associates are not worried. Those who have read the book and heard the songs are predicting a two-year run. "I'm very excited about the show," Berlin said. "I like the song very much and I'm very happy about the reaction I've gotten from the recording companies who always hear these things in advance. But don't call it my show—there's a 'warrior' named Bob Sherwood has something to do with it."

Sherwood, author of such plays as "Idiot's Delight" and writer of some speeches for the late President Roosevelt, has given "Miss Liberty" somewhat more of a story than most musicals.

NEWSPAPER PLOT
The plot concerns itself with the great newspaper feud between

Eddie Albert, the film comedian, has the featured male role with Mary McCarty and Alvin Karpis playing the leading female roles.

Berlin said his favorites in the score were "Paris Wakes Up and Smiles," "Homework" and "A Little Flirt in a Big Pond."

"In view of the theme of the show," he added, "we are opening fourth of July."

Belgians' Living Standard at Peak

By Eric Kennedy

BRUSSELS, June 25.—(Reuters)—The standard of living of the average Belgian worker is higher today than it has ever been.

This has been proved by a 12-month government inquiry into the way of life of those Belgians classed here as "economically weak"—families whose income does not exceed $36 a week.

The inquiry consisted of a detailed study of the household budgets of 400 such families.

A report on the results of the inquiry states that unless some measures are taken to maintain and even increase the purchasing power of wages by forcing down the level of prices, the Belgian worker may have to accept more austerity.

St. Laurent Asks Peace Mandate

Fisticuffs Punctuate Drew Belleville Meet

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prime Minister St. Laurent has put his government's record and program before Canada's newest province.

As the campaign for Monday's election wound, he spoke last night in St. John's, capital of Newfoundland, and put the government's aims in these words:

"We are asking for a new mandate in outline to give peace and security, complete recognition of Canadian nationhood and the development of all aspects of our national life."

DREW MEETING STORMY

Progressive Conservative leader George Drew, moving back to Ottawa to await Monday's election results, ran into a noisy meeting at Belleville, Ont., where fist fights developed between members of the audience and three hecklers. The hecklers left the meeting with bloodied noses and bruised faces.

M. J. Caldwell, CCF leader, spoke in Trenton, N.J., in a swing around his home constituency of New Brunswick and predicted substantial gains for the CCF Monday.

Mr. Drew, at Belleville, said the Canadian people will decide Monday whether they want responsible government or continuation of a government that denies their representatives the knowledge of affairs that they should have. He wants to see responsible government restored to Canada.

TO CONTINUE FIGHT

Mr. Caldwell said that whatever the outcome of the voting, the CCF will continue to fight for immediate implementation of national health insurance and the kind of money-making legislation and trading policies that the farmers want.

"In view of the theme of the show," he added, "we are opening fourth of July."

Speaking at Peterborough, Ont., dealt with gold.

He said the existence of gold as an international currency would be seriously threatened if the world returned to "speculative and illegal trafficking in a so-called free market." The bulk of the world's gold is bought by the United States at $35 an ounce. A higher price is available only on black markets.

Dutch Evacuate Indonesia Town

JOGJAKARTA, Java, June 25.—(AP)—Netherlands troops yesterday left Wonorejo town in Indonesian forces in the first step toward restoring the republic's power here. The transfer was carried out peacefully, but in Jogjakarta two Indonesians were killed.

Another fact which the inquiry has revealed is that Belgians today are drinking less. It is claimed that in Belgium, drunkenness has ceased to be a danger and a nuisance.

TRADITIONAL PROCEDURE

DUBLIN, June 25.—(UP)—Three boys, aged 8 to 13, were on probation today for sinking a small barge after smearing it with red and green paint.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Joseph McCarthy commented: "I suppose you wanted it to go down with flying colors."

Soviet News Agency Details Are Revealed

LONDON, June 25.—(Reuters)—Details of the management of Tass, the official Russian news agency, were given in the court of appeal yesterday in support of the agency's claim to diplomatic immunity from being sued in British courts.

Lord Justice Singleton said it seemed that Tass had sovereign immunity they could publish anything they pleased about anyone and there was no remedy whatever.

The court was hearing an appeal by Vladimir Kravina, a Czech refugee and former Prague University professor, from a court order setting aside service of a libel writ by Kravina against the Tass agency.

Kravina issued a writ in May, 1948, claiming damages for libel contained in the Soviet Monitor, published by Tass, in an article headed "Betrayed British Troops to Gestapo," and an injunction to restrain the agency from further publishing or circulating any similar matter.

8,000 Czech Jews Will Go To Israel
FRANKFURT, Germany, June 25.—(UP)—Czechoslovakia will send 8,000 of its 20,000 remaining Jewish emigrants to Israel this year, the U.S. military government was advised today.

Harry Greenstein, Jewish affairs adviser to the military government, made the report after a visit to Prague and Budapest. He said it was unlikely Hungary would allow any large-scale emigration of its 140,000 Jews.

Private Investment Urged at ERP's End

By Forbes Rhude

Canadian Press Business Editor
MINAKI, Ont., June 25.—(CP)—Use of private investment when the European Recovery Program runs out was urged yesterday by Pierre Bonvoisin, Belgian banker.

Addressing the Investment Dealers Association of Canada he asked: "If European capital had not originally taken the risk of developing what was then called in Europe 'the raw continent,' how would Canada have become such a well-equipped community? How would the United States have risen to the limelight of economic supremacy?"

U of S President Gets McGill Post
MONTREAL, June 25.—(CP)—Dr. James Hubert Thomas, former president of the University of Saskatchewan, yesterday was appointed dean of the faculty of divinity, at McGill University, succeeding Prof. R. B. Y. Scott.

UNDERSTANDING GONE
"What is rather strange is that in 1949 the present generation all around the world seems to be overlooking less and less about international investments. Yet it was only because the mechanism of investment was well known and worked smoothly that the great ventures of the 19th century were successfully brought to completion. It was because in those days the private houses of old Europe knew how to study new business opportunities, how to finance them and how to spread among the portfolio of their clients the bonds and capital equities which were needed to create industries and trade in the so-called undeveloped countries."

WHO WILL FINANCE?
Bonvoisin pictured the needs of Europe and said that when ERP runs out in 1952-53 there will remain a lot of capital requirements. "Who will finance them? Not much can be expected from the citizens of the countries upset by war. There will still close quite a time before their savings can be adequate to their needs. Has the time not come when it is only logical to expect that the rich countries of today will put out the economies short of capital as the wealthy countries of the 19th century engaged in equipping the new continent?"

Mid-Town Well Proves Unique

Redwater Residents Have Front-Door Oil Operation

Oil wells are not new to residents of Redwater, but to have a well drilled in the heart of the town is rather unique as far as the Edmonton oil field is concerned.

Such is the latest development at Redwater, about 35 miles northeast of Edmonton. British American Oil Company is owner of this latest well and it is located on a field which was only recently leveled for a playground for the children. The new B. A. well couldn't be more centrally located. To the south is the new $100,000 hotel and the town's grain elevator. On the west are houses with residents having a good front window view of the well. On the north are other houses including a new boarding house and a line of business places. In the winter youngsters and adults will do their skating along side the new well, just to the west of the playground property on which the new well is drilled, is owned by the provincial government and is known as park land.

DISASTER PRECAUTIONS
Every precaution against disaster at the well in the heart of the town has been taken by the oil firm. For instance the flare line is to be piped about half-a-mile northeast of the town so that fumes from the burning flare line are not too strong in the town. The oil firm also has bonded all businesses and residents in the town which could be threatened by the well. They have been bonded for protection against any unforeseen disaster.

Workers of the drill rig also will be taking every precaution in bringing the well in. The rig already has hit the pay zone. Extensive coring is being conducted. When the well does blow in, workers say it will be brought in slowly, thus eliminating any threat of trouble.

What happens to the children's playground? The youngsters will have new grounds about a half mile west of the town. It will be in conjunction with the playground required by children of parents living in the new Imperial Oil Ltd. housing project on the northern outskirts of the town.

Work on the Imperial housing project hasn't started as yet, but an early start is expected. An addition to the school also is planned as the enrollment has increased greatly since oil was found in abundance at the field. F. J. Kelly, who left the town of Fairview in northern Alberta about a year ago for the "peace and quiet" of a small town near Edmonton, is principal of the school. He hasn't found the quiet he expected but says he likes Redwater and its oil industry.

Picture Sold By Churchill

LONDON, June 25. — (AP)—Winston Churchill, who paints for a hobby, put a painting on the block yesterday for the first time. It sold for 1,250 guineas ($3,250). The signed painting, called "The Blue Room, Trent Park 1954" was bought by the Brazilian chain of 24 newspapers owned by Asa Chateaubriand and will go to the Sao Paulo Art Museum. Britain's wartime prime minister painted the picture in 1954 at the home of the late Sir Philip Sassoon, British shipping magnate and sportsman. It measures 19 1/2 inches by 13 and was exhibited in 1948 at the Royal Academy.

Alta. Trucker Wins Appeal

OTTAWA, June 25. — (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada yesterday allowed an appeal by the Alberta truck driver against more than $60,000 worth of actions for damages arising from car-truck crash four years ago.

Paul Puller of Carbon, Alta., was driver of the truck near the Alberta village of Acme when his vehicle collided with a passenger car driven by John Nickel. In the car also were Robert Moore, his wife and Mrs. Bertha Moore, all of Acme.

TRIAL JUDGMENT UPHOLD

Nickel and the Moores claimed general and specific damages totaling $60,348, alleging the truck was travelling at an excessive speed and was not on the right side of the road. The Supreme Court of Alberta dismissed the action on the grounds there was conflicting evidence but the appellate division of the court allowed an appeal. The Supreme Court of Canada upheld the original trial judgment.

Spud Shortage Seen Solved by Novel Ruse

THE PAS, Man., June 25.—(BUP)—Indian department authorities wondered why northern Manitoba Indians did not grow more potatoes on their scattered reservations.

The treaty party from The Pas Indian agency came back with the story after making the annual visit to Grand Rapids, Cedar Lake and Moose Lake.

The Indians had been eating the seed potatoes loaned to the tribes during the past few years.

R. S. David, agricultural supervisor for the Department of Indian Affairs, however, was said to have discouraged the eating of seed potatoes. David's action was an experimental alternative to ending the annual ration of seed potatoes to the tribes.

This year seed potatoes were treated with bitter substance and labelled with large poison signs. Consequently, authorities hoped the Indians would grow a record crop of potatoes this summer.

New Hotel Dispenses With Official Opening Flourish

Approximately a year ago, shortly after Redwater became known as a wealthy oil producing area, the small hotel which adorned the town's main street was destroyed by fire.

Since then a new structure has been built. Today, after the owners of the former hotel got to work on reconstruction, the town has a smart and modern $100,000 hotel to provide every convenience for the army of oil workers and others who have swollen the town's population figures.

NO OPENING
The Redwater hotel, rebuilt from the former frame building in to a smart brick and stucco structure, is jointly owned by the Melanka brothers, William and Alex, and by Steve Maloney, a third partner.

There were no elaborate official opening ceremonies. As the main rounds, upstairs rooms, beverage room and gleaming new cafe became finished they were opened for the convenience of the hotel's many customers.

BUSY CENTRE
Only work remaining to be done to the exterior of the hotel is to complete the final layer of stucco. The building then will be the smartest in the town and one of the finest hotels in the north-eastern sector of northern Alberta.

with spreading business section in foreground. Splendid new hotel is pride of residents of community and adds much to growing site.

Alberta Woman Gets $35,000 In BCE Suit

VANCOUVER, June 25.—(CP)—A supreme court jury Thursday awarded Mrs. Eva Pearl Nance of Irricana, Alberta, $35,000 damages against the B.C. Electric Company for the death of her husband Jan. 18.

Samuel Joseph Nance, 54-year-old implement dealer, was struck by a one-man street car. He died in hospital shortly after. His wife suffered minor injuries.

The jury ruled that the negligence of the driver—Joseph Stevens—was the sole cause of the injuries which resulted in Nance's death.

Mrs. Nance sued for compensation for herself and four children.

Institute Tells How To Kill Scorpions

Mighty War Base Decays in Jungle

By Leslie Brodie

LOMBROM, Manus Island, June 25.—(CP)—Australia's efforts to recommence this once powerful naval base as an advanced outpost for Commonwealth defence are running against a powerful force—the jungle.

Widespread desolation and decaying ruins are all that remain of the base the United States used to mount the big offensive that carried the Allies to victory in the Pacific war.

The island is in the Admiralty group, about 150 miles south of the equator and 240 miles north-west of the eastern tip of New Guinea.

The wharves around Seader harbor, where the world's largest cargo could be serviced, are tilting and falling in the sea.

ROADS IMPASSABLE
Roads linking the various camps have been allowed to deteriorate to such an extent they are now almost impassable to automobiles.

Only jeeps and gear-driven trucks are relied upon to make the journey from Lorengau to Momote. At the height of wartime activities this road was a near-speedway.

The Royal Australian Navy has established its base here at Lombrom where it hopes to develop a yard capable of repairing and refitting ships should Australia again be forced into war.

As yet the navy has no ships at the island and has to rely on visits from a naval LST to bring stores in from Australia.

ONLY ONE AIRCRAFT

The R.A.A.F. has taken over the famous airstrip at Momote. However, it is better off than the navy because it has one aircraft—a Catalina flying boat used for air-sea rescue work.

Both services are in token strength and are only strong enough to maintain their own immediate needs with out expanding into a defence outfit.

Men on the island, both government officials and service personnel are outspoken critics of the government's policy of not encouraging the Americans to keep the base going.

LABOR SHORTAGE

(Australia's external affairs minister, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt declared that the presence of U.S. forces on Manus in peace time encroached upon Australian sovereignty).

Shortage of labor is one of the main reasons for the neglect of Manus. The Australian government took over from the Americans last September and have had great difficulties in getting men to go to the area.

The government has sent up 4000 immigrants arrived from Europe to work on the base, but they are too few in number to make an impression on the work that must be done before the place can again be termed a naval base.

SOUND SIMPLICITY at rock-bottom cost is the keynote of this new model home recently opened by the Montauk Beach Company, Inc., on Long Island, N.Y. Designed after the suggestions of Douglas Thomey, building consultant, the architect kept expenses down by: (1) Elimination of basement; (2) Simple frame and roof; (3) Dry Wall construction; (4) Simplified windows and trim; (5) Use of closets for partitions. Although the house embodies the latest principles and advancements in moderate-priced design and construction, it's so simple to build that the toolwise amateur can do much of the work. The Montauk House lends itself to any seashore terrain and can be used for a summer or year round home.

San Marino Threatens U.S.; Britain

SAN MARINO, June 25—(UPI)—This tiny republic in the heart of Italy threatened today to haul the United States and Britain before the world court for non-payment of

$1,150,000 in war damage claims. San Marino's secretary of state, Gino Gasimoli said the two countries owed the money for damage caused by Allied air raids during World War II. "If they reject the claim," he said, "we will appeal to the United Nations and, as a last resort, to the international court at the Hague to collect."

San Marino needs the money to balance its 1949 budget. The government is made up of Socialists and Communists.

"The Caledonia"

THE "CALEDONIA"—In this charming design, simplicity and spaciousness are achieved in a ground area of 1,130.5 square feet. This house does not come into a low cost bracket as it contains seven large rooms, two baths and an attached garage. Economy is attained by the simple rectangular plan which is relieved by a gable at the front entrance plus a front extension for the garage. It is essentially a home for a family with children. Two large second floor bedrooms, a bath with shower, plenty closet space and a hall large enough for setting up Junior's electric train. Room areas on the first floor are increased by careful planning which cuts hall space to a minimum. There is a built-in desk in the living room, book cases and excellent wall space. The kitchen and dining room are combined to increase the gracious effect and to show off to advantage a skillfully planned kitchen layout. The bathroom is large and contains a built-in vanity dresser. Off the dining space is a screened porch which also gives access to the garden.

On The Farm

By Pat McVean

Financing of rural education in Alberta reminds us of the ancient and bearded story of the farm youth who was walking the neighbor's daughter home.

For some reason, completely obscure in our version, he was taking a crowbar, a live chicken, a wallop and a goat to her father.

It was one of those June moon nights and he wanted to kiss the girl, but he couldn't very well kiss her without taking her in his arms and he couldn't take her in his arms as long as he had his hands full with the goat and the crowbar and the chicken and the wallop.

In the end he put the chicken down, covered it with the wallop, stuck the crowbar into the ground, tied the goat to it, and put the June moon's romantic influence to work.

Rural school divisions in Alberta are in the young farmer's position. They have their hands full providing school facilities, required school equipment, and salaries decent enough to attract qualified teachers.

So far, most of the help forthcoming has been from the provincial government, with its school grants.

Just how adequate these grants are, proving in an era of rising salaries, increased building costs and expanded school curricula is indicated by recent reports from several school districts.

At Athabasca, a provincial arbitration board awarding salary increases to teachers "strongly recommended substantial increase in school grants."

At Wetaskiwin, school board officials agreed to petition the provincial government departments for increased grants on the grounds that added funds were necessary to maintain school standards.

At Rocky Mountain House, increase of mill rate to 60 is foreseen necessary to meet school expenses.

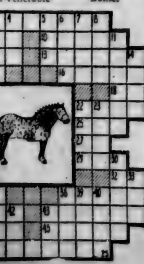

In the first instance, department of education officials said flatly provincial grants could not be increased to cover current term expenses; they gave little indication of making exceptions to this general rule to deal with the Rocky Mountain House and Wetaskiwin needs.

School trustees are looking eastward now for a solution of the problem; they're wondering if federal aid in the form of educational grants couldn't give Alberta children extra training by high calibre teachers in properly equipped schools.

U.S. to Respect China Blockade

Naval Forces Won't Enter Communist-Held Ports

MANILA, Philippines, June 25.—(UP)—The U.S. Navy will respect Nationalist China's blockade of Communist-held Chinese ports, Vice-Admiral Oscar C. Badger said today.

Badger, commander of U.S. naval forces in the west Pacific, made the statement at a press conference aboard his flagship Eldorado on his arrival here for a 30-day goodwill visit to the Philippines. He said China has a perfect right to close its territorial waters.

"I don't intend to take my ships in as long as the waters are closed," he said. "There has been no loss of American lives or ships so far and I hope there will be none."

He said Nationalist action in closing waters off Communist-held China is not, strictly speaking, a blockade, but did not elaborate. The Nationalist action, which takes effect at midnight tonight, does not alter the general picture in China, Badger said.

CHANGES IN FARM ACT URGED BY FARMERS

WINNIPEG, June 25.—(CP)—An amendment to the Prairie Farm Assistance Act to cover grain and hay losses of the individual farmer from hail, drought and floods was urged in a resolution passed today at the annual convention of the Manitoba Farmers' Union.

In other resolutions the convention asked:

1. Government control of prices on binder twine or put a subsidy on it if necessary; control of the price or subsidization of 2-3-D.
2. Investigation of the spread of prices paid to farmers for butter.

Asbestos Back-to-Job Move Halts Abruptly

ASBESTOS, Que., June 25.—(CP)—The return-to-work movement in Quebec's strike-troubled asbestos industry came to an abrupt halt here last night when employees of Canadian Johns-Manville Company decided against going back to their jobs.

Jean Marchand, secretary of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, said the question of possible reprisal action by the company against strikers and union leaders is the stumbling block in efforts to end the dispute here.

One of the bitterest labor struggles in Quebec's history, the strike originally affected 4,000 employees at five asbestos-producing companies. The men struck February 13 for a 15-cent-an-hour wage boost.

The back-to-work movement came suddenly early Friday at nearby Thetford Mines where 2,500 miners voted to go back to the pits without the pay increase. Monday without the pay increase, Mr. Marchand said, 1,500 strikers continue the work stoppage because the company does not yet realize that 250,000 mining and fishing licenses sold last year provide for a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Four union leaders are among a number of strikers whose cases are pending in criminal courts on charges arising from violence in Asbestos early in May.

End of the strike at Thetford Mines will re-open mines and plants operated by Johns-Manville Limited, Asbestos Corporation and Filabro Mines Limited. Work resumed early this month at the plant of Nicot Asbestos Limited at St. Remi de Tingwick. Demands of employees of Quebec Asbestos Corporation at East Broughton are under arbitration but there has been no work since May.

The CCLC secretary said the Canadian Johns-Manville Company wants to reserve the right of priority of employment at its plant for "about 100 men." About 700 regular employees returned to work early in the dispute, and the company granted these men a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Harper Valtzes To Amateur Wins

Gray Rolls Right Along; MacDonald Ousts Vern Mohs

SPECIAL TO THE BULLETIN
CALGARY, June 25—Youthful Jim Harper of Edmonton Highlands, last year's provincial junior champion, established himself as a prime dark horse in the Alberta amateur golf championship by scoring a twin killing Friday at the Calgary Golf and Country club to advance into the quarter finals of the tourney.

Despite a driving rain and an accompanying high wind which made golf conditions hazardous, Harper came through with flying colors to eliminate Vern Mohs of Calgary 5-1 in the morning round and then out Bob Dunton, winner of the Alberta country district tournament, 4 and 3 in the afternoon round.

Along with Harper, three other Edmontonians and four Calgary men will square off Saturday in the quarter final, championship final and consolation final. The quarter final winners will be declared Saturday evening and the 36-hole final will be played Sunday.

MACDONALD KEEPS GOING
 Johnny MacDonald of Edmonton Highlanders club scored something of an upset in Friday's play by eliminating consistent Vern Mohs of Edmonton Highlands in a sterling match that went to the 39th hole. MacDonald continued his smooth style of play in the afternoon to defeat last year's champion, Red Deer Country club's new provincial junior champion, 5 and 1.

One of the pre-tournament favorites, Glenn Gray of Edmonton Mayfair, played with the contenders by eliminating Doug Willis of Calgary and Cal Scott of Inverness, 3 and 2. Ted West also of Edmonton Mayfair, defeated his fellow townsmen and won when he downed Dan Pederick of Municipal, 3 and 1. MacDonald eliminated Emory Collins of Red Deer Country club, 4 and 1.

LECLAIR, JENNINGS BOB OUT
 Leclair, Jennings and Bob Out, all of Calgary, took a dim view of the northern representatives in the quarter final. Leclair, 2 and 1, and Jennings, 2 and 1, defeated Doug Willis of Calgary and Cal Scott of Inverness, 3 and 2. Ted West also of Edmonton Mayfair, defeated his fellow townsmen and won when he downed Dan Pederick of Municipal, 3 and 1. MacDonald eliminated Emory Collins of Red Deer Country club, 4 and 1.

SPORTS EDITOR GORDON COBBLICK wrote in yesterday's Cleveland Plain Dealer that a syndicate of business men is forming to buy the Indians and will "be ready in the near future to make a formal offer of approximately $2,000,000." Cobblick said that George Creamer, president of the Standard Brewing Company, heads the syndicate.

Creamer, now a stockholder in the Cleveland Baseball corporation, said the newspaper story was "news to me."

"I've heard rumors as everyone else in town has, that Veeck may sell his holdings," said Creamer. "There have been no meetings of any kind that I know of."

Veeck said he had received rumors of the reported syndicate about two weeks. He called it "convention news," is likely to remain conversation.

CNR Cast-off Pulls Switch as Leafs Win

A different uniform has given Don Simon a winning outlook on Junior baseball life at Clarke Stadium. Last night the young pitcher, Leaf pitcher, pulled off a 3-1 victory for his second straight win, leaving the Leafs with a 3-1 record.

Simon limited his former mates to five hits while striking out six and walking four. Only rebounding base hit by Hyman was Wally Uruskiak, towering home run to deep centerfield in the seventh inning.

Leafs, youngest team in local junior ranks this season, made a comeback from a 2-1 deficit to a 3-1 victory. They tallied two runs in the eighth and ninth innings. They managed to get into the game in the top of the eighth when they scored two runs on a single by Don Simon.

Harrison Clings To Tourney Lead

Big Dutch Holds Three-Stroke Margin Over Steady Dick Metz

ST. GEORGE'S GOLF CLUB, Toronto, June 25—(CP)—Amiable Dutch Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., stubbornly fought off his challengers yesterday in the third 36-hole round of the Canadian Open golf championship and ended with a three-stroke credit margin.

DUTCH HARRISON
... Pacing the field.

Big Dutch fired a 71 yesterday, one under par and his worst round of the tournament, for a 34-hole score of 204.

METZ CONSISTENT
Nearest threat came from Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va., who turned in his third consecutive round of 69 for one of the best shows of consistent golf.

Tied at 208 were Jerry Barber of Los Angeles and Fred Hawkins of Antioch, Ill.

Bill Kerr of Montreal held his position as low-score Canadian, matching Harrison's 71 and entering the first round with a 56-hole total of 210.

Another stroke away with a 71 yesterday was Charles (Chips) Congdon of Tacoma, Wash. Congdon won at Vancouver last year.

LOW AMATEUR
Nick Weslock of Detroit was low amateur after 54 holes with a score of 219. He shot a par 72 for his yesterday's effort.

Bracketed with Kerr at 210 were Jim Tarness of Elmstead, N.Y., and Jim Ferrier of Chicago. Tarness was one over par yesterday and Ferrier went two over. Clayton Heister of Charlotte, N.C., dropped back with a 74. He was four strokes behind Harrison at the halfway mark and lost another three yesterday to finish 54 holes in 211.

Monday is election day. By this time next week one of the most pathetic sights around town will be the brave faces of several candidates smiling in futility from scores of fading posters.

I've often wondered why party organizers don't systematically throw down those large-as-life likenesses of defeated candidates before sun, wind and rain to their ghastly work.

To me it's like neglecting to give the dead a prompt and decent burial.

Perhaps the reason the posters stay up for months and sometimes years is because defeated party activists just can't bear the humiliation of being seen "desecrating" the images of their fallen champions.

Or perhaps the party treasurer is determined to get some value for the money spent on advertising.

At any rate by next week the heat and fury of another federal election campaign will have been stilled and the voters of many political turtles will be heard no more in the land—for a few years at least. While a few of those turtles will be in the soup, the winners will have the right to

Health Officer Warns Of Precarious Needs

Parents of pre-school children in Edmonton are neglecting smallpox vaccination, creating a condition favorable for a fairly extensive epidemic.

This is the warning issued today by Dr. G. M. Little, city medical officer of health.

In a report to Dr. G. H. Brown, chairman of Edmonton board of health, Dr. Little notes that only 52 percent of pre-school children in Edmonton have received public health board vaccination protection against smallpox.

NOT ENOUGH

Says Dr. Little: "This is not sufficient to prevent a fairly extensive epidemic if this disease should be introduced into our community. Past success in controlling this disease by vaccination, has created an indifference which is our greatest obstacle in providing protection."

Even at that, number of pre-school children vaccinated annually has doubled in recent years.

But while Dr. Little expresses concern over growing indifference to smallpox vaccination, immunization program among pre-school children for other epidemic forms of disease is highly encouraging, he reports.

For the five-year period, 1942-46 inclusive, 62.2 per cent of 15,662 children born in Edmonton were inoculated against diphtheria and 61.1 against whooping cough.

NOT VIRULENT

The medical health officer cautiously states that polio should not be so virulent this summer, if it follows the pattern of the past few years.

He points out that following a period of peak incidence there are usually a number of years during which cases of polio are few in number.

At the same time he warns against excesses in exertion and strain for children as a safeguard against the disease.

"If you use linseed oil to oil floors, mix one part of turpentine with four parts of oil. It will penetrate more readily and dry more quickly."

Electrocution Found To Be Accidental

Mr. Wise was electrocuted May 15 when he touched a telephone wire which had been charged with 5,000 volts from a high tension power line that had fallen across it.

Vet Given 2-Year Term Breaking and Entering Ends in Conviction

Frederick Gordon McChesney, veteran of five years' service with the RCN, yesterday was sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

McChesney was found guilty of two charges, one of breaking and entering and one of attempting to break and enter.

Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor, in passing sentence, told McChesney he didn't believe his evidence, nor did he find his explanation reasonable.

ENTER GARAGE

McChesney, arrested April 15 with Alex Skarlicki, 47-year-old, was charged with breaking and entering the premises of Monarch Motors, 1071 101 street, and attempting to break into the Grand Cleaners, 1066 101 street.

Witnesses testified they saw McChesney and Skarlicki hanging around the two 101 street business establishments.

Monarch garage as merely "waiting while Skarlicki rented a car."

The two men had visited friends at the Royal Alexandra hospital the night of April 15. Then, McChesney, told court, they had looked for a taxi.

REMEMBERED COAT

While looking for a taxi, McChesney had remembered his coat at the cleaners.

Crown prosecutor W. J. Shortreed argued that if McChesney's explanation was "reasonable, then he should be acquitted."

"But the movements of the accused were utterly unreasonable and I submit that his explanation is unreasonable."

McChesney's record was read to the court, and it was pointed out that he had suffered a head injury in 1944 which eventually led to his discharge from the navy.

He explained his presence at the

PROFESSIONAL WOMEN IN FOREFRONT OF VOTERS

VOTES FOR WOMEN was the slogan for which our foremothers battled and went to jail, says Mrs. Martin Gimby, prominent in Edmonton teaching circles and vice-president of the Alberta Teachers' Association. "Much of our mounted equality we owe to the franchise they won for us," she says. "We have hardly justified their faith, as yet. More women are needed badly in public life. At the very least we can get out and vote."

NEARLY FOUR MILLION WOMEN ON LIST

MOMMY TAKES TIME to be sure her name is on election list. Wife of a student veteran and mother of two boys, Mrs. Vernon Laurence will be voting this year for the first time in a federal election. In his mother's arms, little Neil is entirely indigent while Kenny takes a dim view of the whole business.

Women Have Potent Power

Women wield a mighty influence around election time.

Their influence is potent any time but political chief-tains will always tell you a party can't get along without its women supporters.

Not that women join the political battle in active candidacy very often. But the House of Commons has had five women M.P.s. And there are two women senators.

In the background there are the hundreds and thousands of women who shake dozens of hands, who pour endless cups of tea, who type hundreds of letters, who knock on many doors.

This year, two of Canada's returning officers are women. Many more will be deputy returning officers and scrutineers.

Hostesses are outdoing themselves to provide the most, the biggest and the best entertainment for their favorite candidates.

Why does a woman want to get into the hurly-burly of active campaigning? If she's a housewife she gets no glory, no political plums, no step upward in her career.

Most women admit it's their husbands who influence them this way. Modern girls pride themselves on independent thinking but once they get married they usually take the same political road as their husbands.

One woman candidate in this election said her husband and family were behind her all the way. It's a certainty no statesman gets very far without the loyal support of his wife.

Never underestimate the power of a Mrs. George Drew, a Mrs. Louis St. Laurent, a Mrs. M. J. Coldwell or a Mrs. Solon Low.

ELECTION ISSUES VERY REAL TO THESE GIRLS

MORE WOMEN THAN EVER are eligible to vote this year and more than ever women are coming to realize, like these two waitresses, that if they want any say in the government, they must take the responsibility of voting. Mrs. Helen Duplessis, left, and Miss Helen Gordy find enough time to keep up with election news in their newspaper. Only 59 per cent of Alberta women eligible voted in the last provincial election.

PIONEER WOMAN REMEMBERS PRE-VOTE DAYS

LONG BEFORE WOMEN VOTED, Mrs. Ann Waskoski came to Alberta with her parents. Her father, who emigrated from Germany, was one of the first settlers in Missouri. Old times and old ways are remembered by Mrs. Waskoski, who is partially blind. Now a full-fledged Canadian citizen, she will be out to vote on Monday, even though she can't leave her room without assistance.

Vancouver Offers Variety of Wares

By Bea Thrifty

VANCOUVER, June 25—I've been scurrying around like a frightened groundhog from one shop to another, enthusing over the variety of wares. But occasionally I stop and say "Oh we have much better than that at home."

But let me tell you about this Vancouver man who is wearing velvet-colored shirts with purple, wide horizontal stripes. This is strictly the bold look and only a detachable wide collar or perhaps a wide-V collar is "acceptable."

Don't let this crazy tale lead in Edmonton just... fight for your rights...

...our men of the prairies should never be excited in violet shirts... now should they? But one thing I did approve in this latest batch of goods is a combination of plaid sleeveless sweaters with matching socks of the same plaid... splendid wool... fine colors... price ranging around $2.00 for the pair.

Vancouver is blazer-happy. All the smart young men about town saunter around in navy blue flannel double-breasted blazers with grey flannels or patterned blouses. The girls... they spring into a blaze of color with their blouses... but they wear them just the same. An average price to pay for a young woman's blazer here is $12.50... but many are far more expensive and some sell for as little as $4.95.

Color riots around with alumnus in blouses. The faithful summer shoe, the spectator pump has branched out from navy blue and brown into red and green. I saw some charmers for $13.50... and they should be for that.

Knitted suits are catching on. Like our prairie forest fires this spring, the sweaters themselves, knit long and fitted with a wide leather belt for $7.50. The skirts sell at $11.50 although some go at $2.95.

Watch for something new in the suit line. The notified something most suspicious in the vast number of lovely gingham suits selling at low prices of $29.50 here, while we've been paying at least $35 for the same quality suit for two years.

Remember what happened when the ballerina suits died a rapid death... they were sold at reduced prices. For a few days, fashion maven has predicted a demise of gingham suits... perhaps this is the death-rattle... they soon see what we see.

There's a beautiful homespun-looking fireweed in artistically colored summer and autumn shades... it's a real love at a price reduced from $4.95 per yard to $2.95. What a bargain! If you want lovely material, this is the one. But the dress is not very fancy, but the variety for not necessarily quality.

I'm away today for a hunt in Vancouver on Monday's day for a roundelay of shopping views in new store.

WHY GROW OLD

All Dress Sizes Are Not Standardized

By Josephine Lowman

You are probably smarter than I am, but for years, I have been bewildered about where to look for clothes for the different women in my family! I have not known just how sizes and ages are classified.

Therefore, when I had the opportunity to talk with a smart girl who knows, I found out that I was not alone in my confusion. I think maybe you would like to know too. This formula may not be added to in every store but the general rule is:

Women's regular sizes are 30 to 44. These sizes are for larger women who are short and stocky. It is a good idea to know the measurements of the clothes you are buying. The measurements of the clothes you are buying.

BEDTIME STORY

Little Chief Is Excited About the Summer Holidays

Dear Tawasi:

Little Chief is jumping for joy these days with summer holidays just around the corner. He doesn't even mind the last few days of the term because tomorrow becomes the very last day of school. His class is having a picnic just like boys and girls throughout the province, he is happy as a lark thinking of all the wonderful things he can do now the holidays are approaching. He'll no longer have to go to school while younger children are playing ball or going swimming.

With the ringing of the four-o'clock bell Thursday, school books will be forgotten for two wonderful months of fun and games. But before school is finished for the season, Little Chief is going on a picnic. His teacher decided to take her pupils on a party next week when they'll play games, compete for prizes, eat peanut butter sandwiches and wind up the big day with a baseball game. It sounds like a real holiday.

Two months of holiday sounds mighty fine, but your Dad and Mother would think it just wonderful if they could do nothing but play during June and August.

Little Chief hasn't planned to have the exciting summer but he can't resist something like that. He knows that there are many different things he can spend his time doing.

Because he's an enthusiastic about swimming, the young boys plan to spend many hours improving his strokes at one of the three city pools. Little Chief knows, too, boys and girls who like playing tennis will have a great summer at one of the city playgrounds. And he knows parents don't have to worry when play is supervised.

July will be a big month for Little Chief with the Edmonton exhibition coming to town. Clown rides, candy apples and grandstand performance will keep him happy for a long time to come.

But Little Chief has decided he'll be helpful this summer. Every week he's going to cut the lawn, besides helping with writing and wedding the garden. And when the pea pods fill and leave turn a golden yellow color he's going to help pick them.

Summer time is fun and sometimes in the city can be fun and interesting. There are many things you can do if you just think about it.

Sincerely,
Jan Walker

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

When things seem bad, so very bad that worse they could not be, hold fast to hope, cling hard to faith.

That some way out you'll see.

Poor Lightfoot the Deer, wounded and alone in a thicket in the Green Forest, had given up all hope before Peter Rabbit arrived. He was weak, faint and in great pain from the wounds which had have Peter talk to him.

"Don't say that you are afraid you'll never leave here alive," begged Peter. "I know you are dreadfully hurt, but perhaps things are not so bad as they seem. I saw something in Farmer Brown's garden once that made me so sick I thought I should die, but I didn't."

Peter, you remember, once ate a lot of young plants which had been sprayed with poison to kill worms and bugs.

"You can't get well if you don't try a little way from here. Don't try to get anything in the world for a drink," panted Lightfoot. "But even if I could I wouldn't dare try to get one. That hunter with his terrible gun may be watching at the Laughing Brook."

A THIRSTY DEER

"Not now," declared Peter in a most decided way. "It might now, and that hunter has gone home. Hunters with terrible guns don't hunt at night except for Bobbie Coon. Besides, as I told you before, there is no danger on Farmer Brown's land because he doesn't allow hunting, and you are on his land now. The Laughing Brook is only a little way from here. Don't you suppose you can try to get there? I will go to see that the water is clear if that will make you feel better."

Lightfoot was sure that he couldn't stand, let alone walk, but after Peter had urged him to try, and when he felt he couldn't stand that dreadful thirst any longer, he did try to get up. He found that though he hurt and he was very stiff all over he could stand, and after a few painful efforts he found he could walk. Peter raced ahead to make sure that he was safe. Of course, he found it was and hurried back to tell Lightfoot.

Slowly and painfully Lightfoot hobbled over to the Laughing Brook. Oh, how good that water tasted! It seemed to him that he never had known how good water was when he had enough to hobble back to his hiding place. Somehow things seemed different now. He did not feel quite so hopeless. That drink had made a great difference, all the difference in the world.

PETER HELPS

Then in the early evening had come Peter Rabbit and found him there. Of course there was nothing that Peter could do to ease his thirst, so he helped him to get water. Nevertheless Peter did help. He didn't know it, but he did. It always helps to have a friend near a friend full of sympathy. Somehow after a little Lightfoot did not feel quite so hopeless. It did him good to talk, and it did him good to

Long Absent Theatre Boos Again Heard in West End

LONDON, June 25.—(CP)—Booing in theatres, conspicuously absent during the war, is being heard again in London's West End.

One recent example was the first performance of "Latin Quarter" at which American comedian (left) who never miss a premiere if Jack Durrant's imitation of Sir Harry Lauder was boomed.

Spouse booing is an unpardonable breach of manners; others that any theatre-goer who has paid for his seat has the right to indulge in it.

GODS RESPONSIBLE

Recent outbursts have all come from the "gods." Theatre managers say small cliques of self-appointed critics get into the gallery on first nights and start trouble if the show does not please them.

Carter, general manager of Associated Theatre properties, controlling seven London theatres, replied:

"Nothing can excuse a man spoiling the enjoyment of others and booing does annoy and embarrass a large number of theatre-goers." Carter suggested "amateur critics" should stay away from first nights and wait till professional reviews appear in the newspapers before picking their shows.

ACTRESSES APPROVE

Surprisingly, two great ladies of the theatre defend booing. Dame Sybil Thorneike said: "I do not consider it necessarily bad-mannered. Better any demonstration for or against a play than a reception of polite apathy."

Flora Robson, veteran character actress, said: "Audiences who pay to see a play have the right to approve or disapprove as strongly as they like. If some can shout 'bravo' others are entitled to shout 'rubbish'."

Russians Warned Of West's Power

Soviet Army Is Inferior Says British Broadcasts

LONDON, June 25.—(BUP)—British broadcasts have warned Russians that the Soviet army is inferior to the forces of the western nations, it was learned today.

The broadcasts are featured by a western commentator of the Asia Salts and the Tokyo Rose of World War II in the person of former Russian Lt. Col. Gregory Tokayev, former assistant professor at the Shukovsky military aviation academy in Moscow.

Tokayev has advised the Russians in his broadcasts beamed to the Soviet to "think" over his warning.

ACTIVE 121 YEARS

The Russian, an active communist party worker for 11 years, walked out of the Soviet last year while he was part of the Russian military administration in Germany.

In recent broadcasts transmitted by the British Broadcasting Corporation, he has told his former comrades that they are worse off than workers in the western world and that their communist masters are deliberately deceiving them.

"We have been told that our armed forces and our military equipment are better than those anywhere abroad," Tokayev said in a broadcast. "But this is an absolute lie."

"Here, too, we are lagging far behind. All of these problems could not fail to make me think I consider that the whole people should think them over. No one else will do the thinking for us."

APPEALS TO WORKERS

Tokayev appeals directly to the working classes on grounds that he was a tractor driver and mechanic for five years. He appeals to the Russian intelligentsia on grounds that he was an academy lecturer. And to the armed forces because he was an officer.

The new western propagandist has told the Russian people that as a fairly important communist officer "I was quite well provided for." He told them he received 4,000 rubles per month while a worker received between 200 and 300 rubles.

Tokayev also reported to the Russians that "workers abroad live in houses or separate flats with all conveniences while our workmen live in huts or in terribly overcrowded conditions."

"When western Europe was bleeding to death, our propaganda expressed its joy at Hitler's victories," Tokayev said. "Molotov, a member of the Politburo, sent a telegram of congratulations to Hitler. We were supporting Hitlerite Germany with donations of raw materials."

14 Enter Better Farming Contest

There are 14 entrants in the field this year, nine of whom are veterans. The first inspection was made early in June, the second will be covered just previous to harvest.

Awards will be presented at the annual banquet held later in the fall. Judging committee consists of J. Stranaka, district agriculturist of Grande Prairie, Gordon Moyer, member of the Agricultural Service Board and Arnold Brown, representative of the Board of Trade.

Stock Prices Go Steadily Forward

Mine Issues Post Best Gains;
West Oil Index Climbs 2.03

TORONTO, June 23.—Stock markets climbed steadily this week to reach their five week high. After sliding down to the lowest price level in 4½ years the previous week, prices rebounded and bulled their way slowly but steadily forward.

Business slowed to a trickle on the exchanges but even the small buying orders were enough to lift prices.

The general public remained largely out of the market. Observers say the market now is resting at a comfortable distance from the low point of the year.

Wall Street counted a strong advance on Monday in late buying that continued at Tuesday's opening but failed to last. Slight selling pressure pushed prices lower, but in a quiet session Wednesday, there was small buying order again lifted the level Thursday.

The market was quiet at a standstill yesterday in one of the quietest seasons of the year at the price level stated at the highest point in three weeks.

New York showed a gain in value of about $1,000,000,000 over the week. The Associated Press stock average closed yesterday at 239, an advance of 1.2 from last Friday.

Canadian markets reflected the strongest New York market. Mining issues attracted comparatively large amount of attention to show the best gain in the week.

Western oils reflected the generally improved price level of the market, to add 1.03.

Grain markets climbed from the previous Friday.

Moisture Improvement Sends Futures Lower

WINNIPEG, June 23.—(CP)—Coarse grain futures generally showed a lower trend on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. The decline attributed to better moisture content.

Overnight rains brought on some moisture and helped in the barley, which were in demand by shippers. Barley was sought by processors.

Rye followed the trend of the coarse grains, while American interests buying also was on the decline. Trade was moderately active. Flax was not open.

Prices of class two wheat, for export to countries other than the United Kingdom, were down three cents.

There was some overnight buying of wheat, but details of the allocations were not given.

German Raimen Urge Soviet Ban

Retalitory Blockade Asked After Train Moves Refused

BERLIN, June 25.—(UP)—West German railwaymen threatened today to impose a counter-blockade on the Soviet zone of Germany.

The action would be in retaliation for the refusal of the Soviet-backed eastern railway administration to move trains between western Germany and Berlin.

Eastern zone locomotives and crews will be refused permission to carry vital supplies for western Berlin, the administration said, until all 1,000 striking west-Berlin railway workers return to work.

The Berlin strikers, however, already have agreed to halt trains from western Germany, although they refuse to resume work on Berlin's elevated railway system until their demands for pay in western marks and a guarantee of no reprisals are met.

Determined to force the issue, west Berlin strikers yesterday asked their fellow-workers in western Germany to refuse to handle trains to and from the Soviet zone. Hans-Jahn, chairman of the Western German Railway Union, promised to impose the requested counter-blockade if the Soviet strikers deem it necessary.

He said no first decision could be taken before Monday, because the military governments and the Russian railway management would have to be consulted first.

The American Military Government also is trying to force the issue. American transport officials notified the Soviet Military Government that strikers were manning the railway yards and asked that normal railway traffic between Berlin and west Germany, halted since May 26, be resumed.

Seismograph Picks Up 'Quake'

NEW YORK, June 25.—(AP)—The Fordham University seismograph last night recorded an earthquake of fairly severe intensity some 100 miles from here, possibly in the vicinity of the Timor Sea.

The Timor Sea lies between Australia and the Netherlands-Papua New Guinea island of Timor. Rev. Joseph Z. Lynch, university seismograph, said the first shock was felt at 3:52:22 p.m. MST and the second at 4:45:45 p.m.

Canada Year Book Is Rated Best Yet

OTTAWA, June 25.—(CP)—A fat, 1,300-page study of Canada's latest progress through time rolled off the press yesterday.

It was the 1948-49 edition of the Canada Year Book, one of the Dominion's annual best-sellers, telling the story of the country's advance through the years since 1871.

A. R. Millward of Ottawa, 51-year-old editor, said the current edition is one of the most comprehensive reviews of its kind.

BEST SELLER "The Canada Year Book is always a best seller," added Mr. Millward who has been working on year books for the last 20 years.

It has a three-two-half blue cover and sells to the public at $2 and to libraries, students and the clergy for $1.

12-MONTH PERIOD Usually the year book covers a 12-month period only, but this year the volume covers 18 months of social and economic development to make up for the lag caused by the war years.

In it is a 77-year statistical summary of the country, a calendar of events for 1948, a directory of regents, a list of official appointments and the main items of legislation passed during the third session of the 20th parliament.

It is divided into 10 major black and white and color and 4 diagrams.

Czech Agents Operate Prelate's Consistory

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 25.—(UP)—Agents of Czechoslovakia's Communist government are sending out mail from Archbishop Josef Beran's office under his seal despite the fact he has ordered the office closed.

The office was humming with activity when foreign newsmen visited Archbishop Beran's palace yesterday for the first time since government agents took over control of the building June 15.

The newsmen watched four men and a girl in the Archbishop's office of consistory filling and stamping official letters. Catholic prelate's seal could be seen on each mimeographed letter inserted in an envelope.

GOVERNMENT CONTROLLER The men were busy-looking, dressed in civilian clothes, two had no neckties and wore sneakers. They were under the direction of a controller installed by the government, Dr. Miroslav Houka.

The consistory formerly was run by Chancellor Rudolf Dornier, who was arrested by Communist agents, and a staff of Catholic priests. Some of the priests were arrested when state police took control of the building.

Archbishop Beran dissolved the consistory last Tuesday and ordered bishops and priests to take over the independent administration of their own areas. Mr. Beran formerly exercised overall control over his archdiocese through the consistory and used it as the medium through which to transmit his pastoral letters and conduct church business.

The new government-designated controller, Dr. Houka, said Archbishop Beran was in good health and free to move about as he wished. He said there was no question of the Archbishop being under house arrest. He laughingly denied a rumor that the Archbishop had gone on a hunger strike.

The plumber, who would be lost without lead pipe and solder, takes his name from the Latin plumbum, meaning lead.

Libertarian Allied Troops

Wouldn't Know Rome Now

ROME, June 25.—(AP)—Allied soldiers who "took" Rome five years ago would hardly recognize the place.

For one thing, you can find Fascists here now. And Italian cops have become tough guys.

biggest shortage in Rome June 25, 1944, was of Fascists. Tens of thousands of Romans poured out to acclaim the liberators. "Not a Fascist among them to hear them yell."

Every Roman you met told you he was marked for death by the SS (German Elite Guard) for harboring fascists in the anti-Fascist underground.

FASCISTS OPEN NOW Today small groups of Fascists are openly in the streets, and Fascist agents are raising their right arm in the Roman salute.

The big black market in cigarettes, gasoline, soap and candy is a memory. Gone are the notorious "corner stalls." Top Division, noisier black market of yore, is all the shadow of the Palace of Justice, is just another street today.

Five years ago allied troops were struck by apathy of the Italian elite. A woman named Bruchetta, who was on the banks of the Tiber while dozens of frightened looking carabinieri stood by her.

ARD-HITTING FORCE Today Rome can boast of one of the toughest police forces in the world. They fine you on the spot for the slightest traffic violation.

Violent crime without mercy. They have taught Communists that money doesn't buy. Via Veneto, the broad boulevard
